

Follow the Footprints

*Heaven is granted to none but those who know the way to it and who walk therein.
(Divine Providence 60)*

Here is a fun way to illustrate the important concept of following the Lord by looking to the commandments and other teachings in His Word.

Suggested Materials:

paper
pencil scissors
colored markers or crayons

Procedure:

1. Make five left footprints and five right footprints by tracing around your feet (or helping someone else trace around their feet). You can make one set as templates and then make four more sets.
2. Write one of the Ten Commandments on each footprint, then mount these on the wall, as if someone is walking upward by following the Ten Commandments. Following the Lord's commandments is one way to learn how to "walk with God."

Variation: Write other quotes from the Lord's Word on the footprints and have them lead toward the Lord's Word as a representative of the Lord with you in your home, school, etc.
